New Market New Challenges

It's been a tough year for our industry, not just in New Zealand - but around the world.

When we hold our 80th conference it will be a year since new laws affecting the whole small passenger industry came into effect. The laws were written around a foreign intruder which showed scant regard for the rules – and that's been its pattern around the world.

Although the Government has promised to review the new laws after a year, we can't expect too many changes. We're unlikely to return to the way things were. But we can reasonably expect some positive changes which will level the playing field.

In the meantime, as an industry we need to look for and seize on new opportunities. If we don't, someone else will. Our conference will focus on these opportunities.

We have some great speakers and some top trade displays. We invite you to take this opportunity to meet and socialise with others from around the country, facing the same issues and looking for similar solutions.

Blenheim. The heart of Marlborough wine region:

Blenheim is the heart of the Marlborough region, New Zealand's largest wine growing area, and home of the famous Sauvignon Blanc.

You can fly direct from either Auckland or Wellington, or take a scenic three-hour ferry trip from Wellington through the beautiful Marlborough Sounds. Once your ferry arrives in Picton, Blenheim is just a scenic 20-minute drive away.

A superb venue

Clubs of Marlborough, in the heart of the Blenheim CBD, is one of the country's top chartered clubs. It offers a range of fine foods, large comfortable spaces and everything we need to make this a conference to remember.
